TEAMS TO CANVASS CITY IN COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN NEXT FRIDAY ARE APPOINTED

Town Divided Into Four Districts. Captain for Each—Parade to Start Drive Expected to Wind up
by Noon

MEETING YESTERDAY OF COMMITTEE ENTHUSIASTIC

Encouraging compliments from every department of the city on the way the Community Chest campaign is being handled were reported at the meeting of the committee directing the campaign, yesterday afternoon. Indications are that the drive will go over Friday morning with a great boom.

The matter of changing apportionments in accordance to suggestions received was taken up by the committee. Mrs. W. C. Stair made a report of the work of the Girl Scouts during the past year and it was so remarkable that the committee felt this organization should be given as much as the Boy Scouts. Consequently, the apportionment of each was put at $150, the additional sum to come out of the emergency fund and the total of $17,000 to remain unchanged. No other changes were made.

The campaign will be inaugurated Friday morning with a parade starting at 8:45 a. m., composed of the school children and members of all the organizations to be benefitted by the drive. This will last half an hour. Then the soliciting teams will start on their whirlwind, house to house canvass of the city. It is planned to have the entire matter finished in time to announce the results before the Cincinnati Good Will party arrives at 12:40 p. m.

PARTIAL CLEAN UP OF BUSINESS SECTION BY MERCHANTS

Several places along the business section of Cumberland avenue were cleaned up today, the merchants employing a private dryman to shovel up the dirt and rubbish and haul it away. Not very much cleaning having been done since the close of the clean-up campaign, a considerable quantity of refuse has collected in most places.

The rubbish is now not hauled to any certain rubbish heap. Many property owners have vacant places to fill and have the refuse, which consists mainly of dirt, piled there.

Efforts are being made by many of the progressing merchants to have the street in front of their property cleaned up before Friday, the day of the Cincinnati Boosters' visit and of the Community Chest drive.

AWNING IN FRONT EUSTER'S STORE FALLS THIS MORNING

The heavy awning which extends over the sidewalk at the Euster store fell this morning, the rods supporting it having become loosened from the wall. The canvas with its heavy rods and poles has a great deal of weight but fortunately no one was hit when it fell. A mirror at the front was cracked. Steps were immediately taken to have it put back.

How Cleveland School Fire Occurred

"Topsy Turvy," schoolroom comedy, became a grim tragedy when 76 men, women and children, lost their lives in the fire that swept the little Cleveland, S. C., schoolhouse while commencement exercises were being held.

Two acts of the play had been presented. The audience consisting of proud, mothers, fathers, relatives and friends, was chatting happily about the success of the performance. Backstage the young student actors were receiving the congratulations of their teacher and principal. They were all ready to go on with the big scene.

Suddenly one of the oil lamps fell and smashed on the floor of the improvised stage. As it exploded, blazing kerosene splashed on the crowd. Flames licked the flimsy props and the curtains that served as scenery. Child actors tried to stamp them out. But the fire spread too rapidly.

In a twinkling there was a rush for the door—the only way out! Some succeeded in getting through the narrow hall and down the wooden stairs. But as the crowd jammed on the landing, the weight became too per cent.

Some were impaled on the jagged bits of banister left standing; others were crushed by the bodies of those falling on top of them; most were burned.

A few leaped from the second-story windows. But most of those who perished were trapped in the room where they sat.

Efforts of those who escaped to aid those still in the building were, for the most part, fruitless. Several fathers who reached the open and returned to seek their children who had been on the stage, were burned to death trying to rescue them.

COMMUNITY CHEST TEAM FOR DISTRICT NO. 2 TO MEET WED.

L. D. Hill, captain of the Community Chest team which will canvass District No. 2, announces a meeting of his team in Charles G. Smyth's office at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He urges that all members of the team be present so that adequate plans can be made to put the District No. 2 canvass over 100 per cent.

Reasons Why You Should Support The Community Chest Campaign

Reason No. 5

GRACE NETTLETON HOME

The Grace Nettleton Home was founded in 1900 by Mr. F. E. Nettleton, and for a number of years supported entirely by him and his friends. Miss Emily Winters began with six children, and when she died in 1913 over two hundred fifty different children had come under her beneficent influence.

Miss Elizabeth Jackson, an associate of Miss Winters was then elected superintendent. Up to the present time over five hundred children have had the benefits of the Home.

These children have been either fatherless, motherless, homeless, or friendless, who have been taken in by Miss Jackson and her assistants and fed, clothed, and educated. About forty-five little girls are the capacity of the Home at any one time. During the year just closed fifty girls have been cared for.

Here is a family of forty-five girls, with four teachers and workers to look after them, and it only requires a little over $6,000 a year to house, clothe, feed, and send them to a nine months' school, in addition to giving them home and spiritual training. There could hardly be a more remarkable case of wise expenditure and large results obtained.

More Kentucky children are cared for than from any other state. It is quite fitting that Middlesboro give largely to the support of this wonderful example of real service. The $2,000 asked for in the Community Chest Budget is not a large amount and Middlesboro should respond generously.

Hear Miss Jackson tonight at the Manning 8:45.

ALL BUT ONE LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS ABLE MAKE BOND

R. C. Campbell and others who were captured in a raid made on his place Saturday have been able to make bond at Pineville. James Cunningham, colored, who was arrested here Sunday with liquor in his possession, has been unable to make bond and is still in jail.

The comparative facility with which federal bonds in liquor cases may be made has caused some comment and the identity of those making the bonds in the recent cases has been made known. Isham Bias and Arthur Cleveland made the $1000 bond for R. C. Campbell. Campbell himself made bonds for his son, R. C. Jr., and for G. Ballinger. Wesley Matthews, charged with having liquor at Yellow Creek where he was arrested Saturday, made a $200 cash bond.

EXPECT FORD AT DIXIE ROAD MEET

Highway Enthusiasts To Gather From
Many Cities in Chattanooga
This Week

Plans are rapidly being perfected for the eighth annual meeting of the Dixie Highway association, which will be held in Chattanooga, Tennessee, at the Hotel Patten, on May 24-25-26. Invitations have come out from the mayor of Chattanooga, the Chamber of Commerce and the Dixie Highway association to Henry Ford, inviting him to attend this meeting.

Governor E. I. Morrow, of Kentucky, has stated definitely that he will be present as has Governor Thos. W. Hardwick, of Georgia, who will probably be honored guests at that time, and take part on the program.

U. S. Senator Samuel M. Ralston, formerly governor of Indiana, will reach Chattanooga Friday afternoon, May 25 and will be another distinguished guest at the banquet. This meeting will be one of the most important and interesting gatherings the Dixie Highway association has ever held and will be attended by many leading highway officials and Good Roads boosters throughout the country. Report will be made regarding conditions along the entire Dixie Highway system, and plans, outlined, looking to the closing up of all gaps as soon as possible.

One of the largest delegations will go from Cincinnati and northern Kentucky, following a campaign under the leadership of a special committee from the Cincinnati Automobile club. This delegation will arrive in Chattanooga on the morning of the 25th at the Hotel Patten, at which time the visitors will be formally welcomed to the city by Mayor Alex C. Chambliss, for the city; President Lou J. Foust, on behalf of the Chattanooga Automobile club, and Mark K. Wilson, president of the chamber of commerce. Judge M. M. Allison, president of the Dixie Highway association, will act as toastmaster, and one of the chief speakers will be Senator Samuel M. Ralston, whose subject will be "The Dixie Highway."

Men Arrested at Waukegan, Ill., Tell
How Band of Twenty Worked,
Surrounding Plant, Binding
Guards and Looting Place

WERE WOUNDED IN LAST RAID SAMUELS DISTILLERY

By Associated Press.

WAUKEGAN, Ill., May 22.—Peter Walker, arrested with Marion Hall and W. A. Doby at Highland Park late last night as robbers of the Samuels Distillery at Deatsville, Ky., said in a signed confession today that they had robbed numerous Kentucky distilleries. Doby and Walker were wounded by buckshot when distillery guards fired on them. Doby may die. The trio were arrested after a woman physician reported they applied to her to dress their wounds.

Walker in his confession said, "We are three members of a band of twenty men who have been robbing Kentucky distilleries. They came so fast we lost count. It was easy work from start to finish. We simply surrounded the plants at night, half of us wound up the watchmen and guards, binding and gagging them, rolled them in the basement and loaded the stuff on trucks. Then we would start for Louisville and transfer it to carload lots for Chicago. We got twenty barrels at Samuels distillery six weeks ago. I guess we made a mistake tackling Samuels place so soon afterwards. They were prepared for us with extra guards and sawed off shotguns."

Walker said he was unable to find physicians in Louisville but kidnapped a doctor they met on the road to Chicago, threw him out of the automobile after he patched up their wound. All three said the robbery was planned by "higher ups."

A THOUGHT

It is impossible but that offences will come; but wee unto him, through whom they come.—Luke 17:1.

Between the acting of a dreadful thing And the first motion, all the interim is Like a phantasma, or a hideous dream.—Shakespeare.

WHAT THE L. AND N. PROJECT MEANS TO THIS SECTION

If the building project of the L. and N. which has been suggested persistently by reliable authorities is put through the value to this section will be, literally, inestimable. Already, when the matter is only being contemplated, the far-seeing men of the section are planning ahead to consider just what it will mean to industry in general here.

The project of the L. and N., as rumored, is to extend their line from where it now ends in Clover Fork, just beyond Harlan, through Black Mountain, across to Appalachia, thus connecting the Eastern Kentucky coal field by a straight railroad line, with the C. C. and O., newly leased railway of the L. and N., and the Interstate Railroad, so as to form a straight outlet to the sea. Besides, it makes a route from Corbin to Norton fifteen miles shorter than the present one and over a low grade.

The wealth of this section is, primarily, in the coal fields, which are among the richest in the United States, and it will be for years to come. Mineral resources here have not been developed to any extent until the past few years and this section is still "the frontier of America." The L. and N. railroad heads have realized this, as have other leaders in industry who have studied the matter. It is because they see the great room for development here that the L. and N. seeks to extend their line. It is for this same reason that Henry Ford and other great capitalists are getting a hold here, looking to the future of the country.

Some people are saying, what does this mean to Middlesboro, because they know that Middlesboro is not the center of the coal industry and has not the natural resources of Harlan county. But they must not forget that Middlesboro has some thing that is not rivaled in any other city in the section, and that is, desirability as a residence location. Because of the wonderful climate and water to be found here, people who come to Southeastern Kentucky are bound to locate in Middlesboro. Because of the generous way in which our town is laid out, there is room here for expansion that on other city in the section comes close to. With the growth of industry in the section will come growth of Middlesboro as the natural center of all industry and activities, and as Middlesboro grows every reliable business and industry in the city will grow. It is indeed a bright future that awaits us if we have only the patience to see it through.

A WARNING TO SCHOOLS

The tragedy in South Carolina, equal in all respects save in the number of the victims, to the Iroquois Theater horror in Chicago years ago, should serve as a warning to persons responsible for the safety of school children throughout the United States.

Present day building codes in cities guard, more or less effectively, against the construction of buildings without safe and adequate exits, but there remain in town and in country, many school buildings which are not so provided with exits and fire escapes that they are altogether safe as buildings in which to give entertainments which tax capacity of their auditoriums.

Tragedy is invited wherever a building without adequate exits, through doorways and stairways and fire escapes rightly constructed, are filled to the doors when an entertainment is presented upon an improvised stage and under the management of amateurs less skilled than professionals in the handling of lights and combustible materials.

Thorough inspection of school buildings, to determine their safety in the event of fire when they are crowded should be antecedent to arrangements for any school entertainment that is planned.

Do you know Baseball?
by Billy Evans

Questions

ONE—Is there any limitation as to the weight of a bat in baseball?

TWO—Team takes its position in field, pitched delivers ball and batter singles. It is then discovered that center fielder has not returned to his position. Does the hit count?

THREE—When two teams play a game on neutral grounds how is the choice of innings decided?

FOUR—How many balls is a pitcher privileged to throw in warming up prior to the start of an inning?

FIVE—With count three and two, umpire calls balk on pitcher, who delivers ball which is wildly pitched, going to the grandstand. Runner on third scores and batsman dashes to second. What about it?

Answers

ONE—There is no limitation as to the weight of the bat. It need only be made of hardwood and not be more than 42 inches long, or over two and three-fourths inches in diameter at the thickest part.

TWO—Team must have nine players in the field. Since there were only eight, hit was illegal, and batsman must be made to hit over when center fielder has taken his position.

THREE—Usually by the toss of the coin, captain winning the toss taking his choice and he usually selects the field.

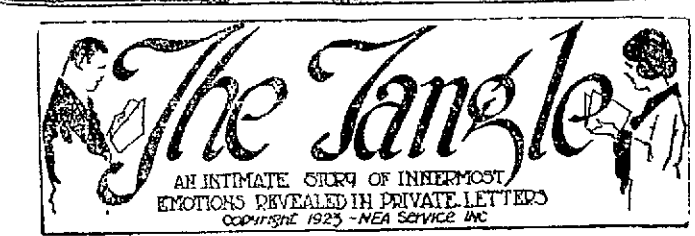

FOUR—Pitcher is entitled to five warm-up balls prior to the start of each inning.

FIVE—When umpire calls balk, ball becomes dead and play is suspended. Runner on third is entitled to score but wild pitch has no effect on status of batter. He continues at bat with count three and two.

LETTER FROM SALLY ANTHON TO HER FRIEND, BEATRICE GRIMSHAW

DEAR BEE:

Someone has said that everybody tells something to everyone and if these people should get together and the things told them be summed up, it would be found that everyone has told all the secrets of her inmost heart.

Bee, I am the unhappiest woman in all the world. I do not understand why I married. (By the way does anyone ever really understand why one marries?)

Oh yes, I know that Sam is the dearest boy in all the world and I have always known that he drank to excess, but I thought now that prohibition was here, he could not get liquor.

I wrote you about his drinking with his boss. Well that started him, and the next night he did not come home to dinner. All night long I waited for him and, Bee, I suffered the tortments of the damned.

The next day about 9 o'clock when I had just about made up my mind to ring up the office and see if he had gotten there on time, a call came to me from the psychopathic ward of the Good Samaritan Hospital.

Sam had been taken there about 3 o'clock in the morning absolutely paralyzed from drink. He had gotten hold of something that was poisonous and, Bee, I think he has lost his sight. At least at the present moment he is totally blind and I am trying to hold my job and keep him in the hospital.

Perhaps I am hard, Bee, but some way I do not feel at all like excusing or pitying Sam. He knew exactly what might happen, but like any other person who dallies with temptation, he thought he was going to skirt around the consequences. Everybody is always ready to apply the law of compensation to everyone else but himself.

And Bee, to make the matter worse, I had a call from Sam's boss this morning. He told me he took Sam out to luncheon especially to tell him that he thought he was drinking too much.

When I asked him if he had not offered Sam a drink at the same time that he gave the warning, without even having the grace to blush, he said, "Why, of course, I always have a cocktail or a highball with my meals, but I can afford to buy good liquor and Sam can't." Bee, then and there I made up my mind that no man was worth one heartache. Mr. White thought he was particularly generous, when he said, "I will pay you Sam's salary for the next two weeks. By that time it will be definitely known whether he will recover from his blindness. Of course, if he does not he can't expect to be a pensioner on my bounty all his life as he has only himself to blame for all this trouble."

"He won't expect it, Mr. White," I said. "I hope you will excuse me now as I am leaving the house to go and see my husband at the hospital. I will tell him of your generous offer."

I suppose Leslie and her husband are perfectly happy. I wonder what terrible thing I did to enrage Fate that such an unhappy lot should be sent to me.

Your despairing friend,
SALLY

To live like common men."
But none the less you'll notice
They always run again!

"The cares of state are heavy."
Our presidents complain.
"A tribute harsh they levy
Upon the nerves and brain.
We're always in subjection
To strains beyond your ken."
But at the next election
They always run again.

They say they hate the clamor
With which each day's atrob.
They loathe the pomp and glamor—
That's bunk; they like the job!
The height which they've ascended
They all enjoy, and when
Their four-year term is ended,
They always run again.

The trouble with climbing the social ladder is people up above kicks runs in your face.

LOVE SONGS

By Helen Frazee-Bower

The Call

I shall hear a low wind
Blowing in the night,
I shall see a white star
Beckoning with light.

They will say, "The wind blows,
Stars are getting few."
I shall smile to hear them,
And turn and follow you.

I Have Made a Silent Word
I have made a silent word
Dreaming here to day.
Not an ear has ever heard
What I mean to say.

Spoken words, like fledgling wings,
Flutter to the ground;
I have made a word that sings
Half the world around.

But the singing wonder lies
Captured in my heart,
When he looks into my eyes
It will wake and start.

Transient

Two things there be that live a day!
The wonder in the eyes
When love is born, and after that
The pain when wonder dies.

The first too breathless is a brief,
More stabbing sweet the pain—
But both will pass and hearts that love
Will live and love again.

Watch Lines in Your Neck to Keep Face Young, Says Beauty Expert

No gallery of feminine beauty is complete without the face of Ethel Barrymore, who probably comes nearer than any other woman to typifying the American ideal of womanhood. Though her features are lovely indeed, and her coloring superb, one has always the feeling that her real beauty comes from within and is only the reflection of her character.

The neck needs fully as much attention as the face, for long before the face shows signs of age, the throat indicates its approach.

I always say to my patients, "Judge how young you look by your throat and hands and don't wait for your face to give you away."

If you see horizontal lines across the neck or dry patches below the lobes of your ears, don't hesitate a minute before beginning anti-wrinkle treatment on your face.

Methods of treatment for the neck are in many ways the same as for the face, but as the neck is bound to come in contact with water when you take your bath, you must be rather more liberal in your use of cream upon it.

Many actresses famed for their beauty apply cream before entering the bath and protect the throat from the water and soap which is often injurious.

A thin neck, which shows a tendency to wrinkle, must be massaged nightly with a tissue building cream which should be patted gently into the skin.

The woman who has a tendency toward superfluous flesh and who finds her chin doubling or tripling on her

Plan to Build! No Better way you could help make a Bigger Middlesboro

Forecasts Say We Will Go Over a Million in This Section During Season

BUILDING LARGE NUMBER GARAGES

Indication of Increase in Motor Cars, Near 500 of Which Sold Here Last Year

That the building of a large number of garages which logically keeps pace with the ever growing use of automobiles is one of the main reasons for the advanced prices in lumber and other building materials during the past few years is the opinion of a national statistician who has made a thorough study of the subject.

There in Middlesboro nearly five hundred cars were sold last year. Of course all of them were not bought by persons living in the city but a large part of them were. Figures showing the number of new garages made necessary by the purchase of these cars are not available but it is known that a large number of garages have been constructed.

They range in size from small frame sheds to large brick buildings. Many of the more expensive ones cost as much as a small dwelling house.

A similar condition exists throughout the country, affecting the general market conditions and causing the price to continually advance.

This phase of the subject is well worthy of consideration. Nearly every one is lamenting the high and advancing prices of building materials. Local lumber dealers say that the price of these commodities, like those in all other lines, are ever in direct proportion to the demand. As long as the demand increases and the supply of raw materials decreases, we certainly can not expect the prices of building materials to come down.

Utilize Fat

Save water in which meat has been boiled and let it cool with the fat in it. It will rise to the top, become a firm cake which may be removed, freed from any scum at the under side and will be as good for most cooking as the fat you pay well for. Before cooking sausage, scald it with boiling water and treat the fat that forms in the same manner.

EQUIPMENT FOR ICE PLANT HERE

New K. U. Manufacturing Plant Will Begin Operation By July 1

Practically all the machinery and equipment for the new ice plant has arrived, according to W. C. Stair, local manager of the Kentucky Utilities company and the work on the building is nearly completed. The place should be ready to begin operation by July 1, he says.

The place will be under roof by the latter part of next week. Tanks will be installed and other fixtures used in making ice will be added just as rapidly as possible. According to the present plans the old building on the corner will be left as it is. Switches for the general service will be installed in part of the new building.

The company has had a large crew of men on the job since the work began, it being their purpose to push the work to completion so that the plant may begin operation as soon as possible. The weather and delay in receiving equipment has somewhat checked the work at times but present indications are that the building will be completed according to schedule.

NUMBER OF STREET LIGHTS PUT UP HERE RECENTLY

A number of street lights have been put up recently in places where they were needed. They were installed on Avondale avenue and one each on Twenty-second street, Rochester avenue North Twenty-fifth street, Lynwood road, Wildwood road and Chester avenue. It is thought that others will be put up soon.

The Kentucky Utilities company has recently increased its transforming capacity for street lights and can now furnish current for a number of additional lamps.

The capacity for residential lighting at Stony Fork Junction has been augmented recently and a number of houses there are now using the service. Plans are being made now for extending the service through Noetown and Binghamtown will probably be considered next.

LET INSURANCE FOR STATE INSTITUTIONS

Plans for Relicting Worked Out By Board of Charities and Corrections On Fine Basis

By Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 17—With the approach of the date of expiration of the fire insurance policies carried by the state penal and charitable institutions plans for re-insuring all state property are being worked out by B. T. Brewer, secretary of the State Board of Charities and Corrections. The policies all expire June 25, this date being the end of the three year period covered by Kentucky companies.

When the board took charge of the state institutions it found the fire insurance in chaotic condition; some buildings and items were over-insured, other under-insured, based on 1917 valuations, some policies concurrent and others non concurrent, and the business largely in the hands of agents with political "pull" enough to get it, the annual report of the board stated. The board had the property appraised and inventoried. The investigation bringing out these facts that the property was worth $2,500,000, insurance to the extent of $2,500,000 was being carried.

The method employed by the State Board of Charities and Corrections in placing its insurance business is told in the following statement:

"With the idea of placing the insurance on an automatic basis, thus eliminating favoritism, a letter was addressed to every stock fire insurance company, legally authorized to do business in the state explaining them the purpose of the board, and asking them if they would co-operate with the board in its desire to take the state's insurance out of politics, and if they would assume their equal proportion of the risk, with the understanding that they would divide the commissions among all their agents in the state.

"One hundred and thirteen companies responded favorably and many commended the plan. This resulted in each of the one hundred and thirteen companies being given a policy of $45,000, all of which was written by agents of this state making a total of $5,085,000, placed under a blanket form, which covers all of the property under the control of this board under one item: 'Building and Contents' for a term of three years, with every company and every agent sharing equitably in the distribution."

LARGE CROWD AT AUTOMOBILE SHOW

Mechano Grows Six Inches, Turns to Stone, Does Other Tricks for Admiring Audience

A large crowd was present at the opening of the automobile show at the Middlesboro Motor company last night. The crowds surged in when the doors were opened and hurriedly looked around the room. The place was beautifully decorated. A Big Six Studebaker Sedan was on display near the entrance and attracted a great deal of attention.

Mechano did not appear until 8 o'clock. One of the main features of his entertainment last night was that of growing taller. A young man from the audience, fully five inches taller than Mechano, stepped up on the stage beside him. The crowd shouted in laughter when the wizard declared his intention of growing taller than the man. They were astonished, almost awed, when, inch by inch, he began to grow until he was taller than the other. When he "turned to stone" a number of the men from the audience examined him and declared his muscles were "hard as rock." The Miracle Man's acts are clean and very entertaining.

A Baldwin piano and two Edison talking machines are on display at the show are the property of Gibson Bros. The firm offers to give away a $200 talking machine to the person who makes the highest bid before Saturday. A few questions asked Mechano last night will be answered in tomorrow's Daily News.

The decorations, the beautiful display of cars, the unexcelled entertainment all indicate that the auto show will be a huge success.

TO ENCOURAGE BETTER HOMES FOR AMERICAN FAMILIES

June 4-10 Set by Secretary Davis For Nationwide Campaign to Show
Actual Value of Better Homes

DEMONSTRATION HOUSES TO BE PREPARED FOR WEEK

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 22—There are two sides to a ten dollar bill. One side is the effort that goes to earn it, the other is the care and intelligence which go to the spending of it. One side is the man's contribution, the other side is the woman's. The whole question of wages is affected by the home-maker's ability to get value for her money.

In such manner Secretary of Labor Davis sets forth the significance of the Better Homes in America campaign to be conducted during the week of June 4 to 10. Secretary Davis is a member of the National Council for Better Homes in America. Other members are Vice president Coolidge, Secretaries Hoover and Wallace and Mrs. T. G. Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"The campaign is a woman's campaign," says Secretary Davis. "They are taking stock of themselves to see how they fill their side of the bill; they are taking inventory of home values to determine on standards.

"The best American wage earners know that the pay check at the end of the week belongs to the family. They know also that a forty-five dollar a week wage does not do as well in some families as a thirty-five dollar a week wage does in others.

"The demonstration houses prepared for Better Homes week in June are concrete educational means of emphasizing the importance of home-making and the increasing necessity of thorough study of its technique. In the homes is the nation, in the home is the basis of the best patriotism.

"There is nothing better we can do than make a thorough workmanlike study of the things that make for a better home, with architects, builders, interior decorators, students, musicians, educators and spiritual advisors joining in a definition of home."

The Better Homes campaign began last year in a comparatively small way. The result of the first effort is shown in the preparations this year of many communities to have demonstration houses during the campaign week in June, according to those interested in the movement. Many of these have been started by chambers of commerce, others by groups of women or women's clubs.

Besides fitting out the demonstration houses for public view the movement includes arrangement of lectures, musical, movie and radio programs, essay and poster contests in school, and other means to draw attention to the home. Many thousands of dollars in prizes will be given locally and nationally in connection with the campaign. An interesting side issue is the preparation of an ideal list of books and musical selections for the home.

In Washington the national headquarters of the Generation Federation of Woman's Clubs sponsored the construction of a replica of the Long Island home of John Howard Payne that inspired him to write "Home Sweet Home." This house will follow every line of the original, but it will be built of the best standard modern materials. It is within a short distance of the White House. Ultimately it will be moved to a permanent location where it will be maintained as a better homes demonstration.

THIS YEAR'S GARDEN Successful Plantings.

Keeping something growing in every row is an important part of successful gardening. In too many cases the rule is to let that part of the garden where early crops have been grown become weedy, thus making it an eyesore throughout the summer and a sure way of having a difficult weed control problem next year.

Succession planting, that is replacing harvested rows with new plantings, is the remedy for this. For instance early spinach may be followed by beans, midseason cabbage or plants of summer lettuce. Tomatoes may be set in the early pea rows, even through a picking or two of peas is still to be made, or the peas may be followed by beans or celery.

Other good successions that insure a garden during the fall are beets and carrots sown in July following early beans and late spinach, mustard or turnips sown in August on early potato or early-cabbage land. When early potatoes can be dug in early July, a good way to use this portion of the garden is to make a planting of sweet corn using any short season variety. Early beets and carrots may be followed by later cabbage or late greens.

In short, it should be the plan of the gardener to have something growing in every part of the garden through out the summer and to have these crops so arranged that when frosts come the entire space may be sown to spinach, turnips or kale. If the season is mild, these crops will furnish a winter supply of fresh greens. If cold weather makes them useless as food, they will provide a considerable amount of green manure for next year's garden.—J. S. Gardner, College of Agriculture, Lexington

HOUSING PROGRAM GIVES BUILDINGS OF BEAUTY

AMSTERDAM, May 22—Confronted with a housing shortage after the war, Holland undertook to remedy the situation with three fundamental ideas in mind, efficiency, economy and beauty.

The government gave subsidies. At first these were $1,000,000 a house; today with building material cheaper the rate is $125.00. No people are able to make money go as far as are the Dutch, even when it is public money. Jobbery seems to be practically unknown—on anything approaching the American scale, at all events. But although the work has been done economically, Amsterdam has been transformed.

The old Amsterdam with its picturesque and narrow streets and lanes, its narrow canals in the city and its larger surrounding canals, is spreading out into new suburbs with wide roads and fine avenues and parks. Holland's best architects are co-operating with the town council to build the best houses at the lowest possible cost.

The architects concerned have taken pride in obtaining the most delightful effects with the cheapest material. It is not what housing has cost the city that they talk about, but how much it has saved the city. That is the Dutch brand of civic pride.

Great attention has been paid to what may be called the rebuilding of Amsterdam to provide dwellings for the working and middle classes. They mark a great advance over such houses as are usually found in continental cities. The number of houses built in Amsterdam since 1914 has now reached over 20,000 and even more extensive and finely planned suburban schemes have been approved.

LARGE GAIN IN ASPHALT STREETS AND ROADS SHOWN

According to an announcement by J. E. Penneybaker, secretary of the Asphalt Association, New York, a total of 82,700,000 square yards of asphalt paving were laid upon American roads and streets last year. This is equivalent to 7,331 miles of highways, eighteen feet wide, and sufficient to build an asphalt road eighteen feet wide from Augusta, Me. to San Francisco, Cal., thence to New Orleans, La., and north to New York. It represents an increase of 14,000,000 square yards over the yardage laid in 1921. Last year was a record breaking year, especially in asphaltic concrete construction on the Pacific coast, the construction of that type of road in that territory alone amounting to 49,250,000 square feet compared with 40,000,000 square feet in 1921 and 28,000,000 in 1920. The gains in asphaltic concrete surfacing on various types of bases and in asphalt and oil macadam pavements are even greater. The total area of pavements laid in 1922 in which asphalt was used on the Pacific coast amounts to 108,000,19 square feet—equivalent to 1290 miles of a sixteen foot highway.

When Your Neighbor's House Burns—

When fire springs up in a neighboring building—is your home safe? Will flying sparks and brands drop on your roof and die out harmlessly—or will they kindle your roof to flames and contribute your home to another dreaded community conflagration?

If there are buildings anywhere near you, and if your home is covered with inflammable roofing, you are not safe from the menace of roof-communicated fire. Your home is recognized by town, city, state and insurance authorities as a fire risk—a danger to you and your family.

But through Asbestos, Johns-Manville offers you safety—a shingle roof which cannot burn—a positive barrier to roof-communicated fire. This shingle roof not only takes a base rate of insurance but should last as long as the building it covers. It enhances the architectural appearance of your home and gives you the cheapest per year service of any roofing obtainable.

An investment in Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles for your home is both a contribution to civic safety and to individual economy. Your money is returned to you many times over in safety, appearance, long life and remarkably low upkeep.

WEEK'S STANDING OF BIG LEAGUES

Batting Averages of Leaders in National, Americans and Southern

Given

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 22.—Zack Wheat of the Brooklyn Dodgers, a war scarred veteran of hundreds of battles, shook off his younger challengers for batting honors of the National League and today is on top of the heap with an average of .425 as a result of hitting safely nine times in his last five games.

The averages are based on figures including games of Wednesday and include players participating in fifteen or more games.

The Dodge slugger has a comfortable lead over Charlie Grimm, the Pirate star, who is his nearest rival. Grimm, up to Wednesday, had played in twenty-five games, and smushed one or more hits in each game, giving him a record for consecutive game hitting for the season. As runner-up to Wheat he is parked in second place with a mark of .416, while Jimmie Bottomly, of the Cardinals, batted himself into the .400 class with an average of .409 for third place.

Veterans, headed by Harry Heilmann, Detroit star, are topping the regular hitters of the American League, with here and there a youngster trying to hold his own with the more experienced players. Heilmann had participated in twenty-one games up to the time the averages were compiled and had cracked out one or more hits in each game, which boosted his average from .500 to the remarkable performance of .518. Sam Rice, of Washington, another veteran, is runner-up with an average of .377. Jameson of Cleveland is trailing the fleet-footed Senator with .371.

Veach and Cobb of Detroit, Spenger of Cleveland, Burns of Boston and Eddie Collins of Chicago are well up among the leaders.

"Babe Ruth gives promise of getting back into his specialty. The Yankee star drove out a brace of circuit drives, running his string up to four, but has covered only one-half the distance set by Kenneth Williams of the Browns, who is topping the home run clouters with eight. Captain Eddie Collins of the White Sox has competition for the base stealing honors this week, in Jameson of the Indians who pilfered five and tied Collins' mark of ten.

Collins has been forced to remain idle because of post-pneumonia, while the Indian outgardener has been in action.

Louise of Nashville suffered a batting slump during the past week, but not enough to lose the leadership among the regulars of the Southern Association. Despite a loss of nineteen points he is topping the list with .403. Tucker of New Orleans is runner-up with .387 and S. Clarke of Birmingham is third with .376.

Herman of Atlanta is topping the home run hitters with four circuit drives. Killinger of Atlanta is leading a hot pace for the base stealers with nine, the quartette of Neum of Birmingham, Marriott of Mobile, Moore of Atlanta and Clinton of New Orleans, trailing him with eight each.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN SHOOT
FROM AUTO INTO CROWD

HARLAN, May 22.—An unidentified man, driving a Dodge automobile, started the Sunday crowd around the depot when he fired two shots from his speeding automobile. He was not shooting at any one in particular, evidently, as no one was hit.

The police pursued the fleeing car but the driver had such a start that they were unable to catch him. However, the officers believe they know the miscreant.

HARLAN HIGH VICTOR IN LAST GAME OF YEAR, WITH CORBIN

HARLAN, May 22.—Harlan High school proved conclusively that they deserved the baseball championship of Southeastern Kentucky by beating Corbin High school 7 to 0 in the game Saturday. Clyde Jones furnished most of the thrills of the game by striking out eighteen men and driving out a home run in the eighth.

Willis Boggess saved two sure triples or home runs when he snagged a long one wit home band and again in the eighth. This game concluded the high school season with a record of four wins out of five games, a record hard to beat in high school.

Greece Looks to Red Cross To Save a Million Lives

THIS IS HOME FOR THESE GREEK REFUGEES, PENNILESS IN ATHENS AS A RESULT OF RECENT WARFARE WITH THE TURKS.

By William P. Simms

ATHENS, May 17.—Greece, with a population of less than 5,000,000 can not possibly take care of her more than a million war refugees when the American Red Cross goes home in June, Premier Gonatas told me in an exclusive interview here today.

The "revolution" premier made it plain, during the conversation that Greece today stands with her back to the wall and without the aid of friendly powers she will have great difficulty pulling through. He pleads for the Red Cross to hang on a while longer—until six months after peace is signed at Lausanne at least. He also thank the American public for saving the situation thus far.

Quarteted in the old Royal Palace, in the dressing rooms of bathing pavilions along the beach, in the boxes of theaters and on the stages in out-houses and stables, in goods boxes, freight cars, tents and out in the open, refugees swarm all over the nation.

Greek Plight Grave

There is one refugee for every family. And when one stops to think that Greece was up against it even before the refugees suddenly began pouring in upon her out of Asia Minor, some idea of her plight can be gained.

"Consider," said Colonel Gonatas, "Greece has been cruelly tried by ten years of constant war and now, in this tragic moment, she must make a place for more than a million refugees, mostly women and children.

"Compelled to flee from their homes by the Turks, who committed before their very eyes atrocities which shame civilization, they arrived in Greece with only the clothes they fled in. Some of them, indeed, arrived barely covered.

"We have done, and are doing, all we can do with the limited means at our disposal, and that is why we so much appreciate the aid that has been given us.

"But in spite of all our combined efforts the problem remains as acute as ever. It is, indeed, Greece's most serious problem.

"For this reason the decision of the American Red Cross to end its mission in Greece at the end of June, comes to us as a very painful surprise.

"I am afraid this decision is due to an erroneous idea. It was probably believed that the refugees could return home. They can't. They only came here after witnessing the most atrocious crimes imaginable inflicted upon their nearest and dearest. It is an uncontested fact that the total extermination of all Greeks in Asia Minor is the direct aim of the Turks.

"I am persuaded that the American Red Cross, better informed, would not interrupt its work for humanity, and would realize that in spite of all our efforts we, unfortunately, will not be in a position to replace their good work here for at least six months after the signature of a treaty of peace."

Thanks America

As a matter of fact, the Red Cross considers the "emergency" over in Greece and, being strictly an emergency organization, it cannot continue to function indefinitely as a purely charitable institution.

Few here, moreover, have any delusions as to what would happen to the Greek refugees were they to return to Turkey. They readily admit, however, Greece has the problem of her life on her hands taking care of and assimilating a 20 per cent increase of population.

"I would like to express through the American press," Premier Gonatas told me, "the profound thanks of the Greek nation and the government to the individuals and organizations of America, and particularly the Red Cross, for the precious assistance they have given us in our heavy task. Will you please be the interpreter before the noble American nation of the feeling of gratitude which overflows our hearts?"
